Any Way You

As East High students returned to school from summer vacation, they noticed that the hallways were just as crowded as ever, that Mrs. Barbara Prior was still principal and that Mr. John Phillips still taught senior Economics. Many changes occurred at East that went unnoticed.

The Social Science Department introduced two new classes to the curriculum: Sociology and Psychology. Both classes were taught by Mr. Fred Vanderley. Sociology analyzes human social behavior, organizations, institutions and the development of the human society. Psychology studies the mental process and behavior of humans.

Other changes that went overlooked at East were found in the sports department. The boys' golf team had its best season in 18 years. The team, which was dominated by 10 seniors, had a 4-3 record. The boys' tennis team also had an outstanding season, qualifying for state team tennis competition.

Any Way You Look At It, East is always changing for the better.

Senior Lonnie Williams runs the 4x200 relay with much determination and poise. The girls' track team had an outstanding year, winning four meets and breaking six school records. They sent 11 different events to the state competition, the most in history.

Mr. John Phillips lectures in his senior Economics class. It is obvious these students are very interested in what Mr. Phillips is saying.

Economics is one of the senior requirements for graduation, and Mr. Phillips is an excellent economics teacher at East.

Senior Tom Rupprecht slips senior Doug Stone the ace of spades as they team up against seniors Jim Cummings, Jim Grant, Paul Rupprecht, Jim Mulvehill and Brian Nelson. This is an example of a typical Saturday-night card game with the fellas.

Look At It . . .

Any Way You Look At It . . .

Any Way You Look At It, the students at East had fun during school and after hours. There was a variety of night life among students.

Many students continued their school support by attending school activities. Football games and basketball games were the most popular activities on Friday nights. These games were usually followed by a trip to McDonald's. Students also went to plays, musicals and concerts to support East.

Other students spent their nights at the movie theater or at home. Students usually stayed home to do homework, rent movies or just to go to sleep. There were also those students who spent their nights working. But no matter what students did after hours, they had fun.

Senior Dennis Bracewell shows he's not quite sure who his choice will be for president while at the old-fashioned political rally.

STUDENT LIFE

When the weekend arrives, students come to life and are ready to roll

After a long week of school, students are always very anxious for the weekend to arrive. The 2:40 p.m. time on Fridays means freedom from school for two days.

On Friday nights students go to the football or basketball games. After the game is over, some are found at Pizza Hut or scooping the loop.

A lot of students use Saturday mornings to catch up on some sleep; however, some students have to get up early and go to work. Some go shopping at the malls on Saturday afternoons. On Saturday nights some go to movies, but those who are involved in school activities may have a meet or game. Some can be found at parties or eating out.

On Sundays most students go to church or use this day to do their homework. On Sunday nights some go to Mike T's, which is a lounge for teens only. It is open for teens any day of the week. This is a place where teens can dance to their favorite music and meet other people from different schools.

Through the years, Tradition moves on . . .

Homecoming Week is the week during the year in which East High students show the greatest school spirit.

Student Government president Kristy Gamble, a senior, said, "More than half the school participated because of the fun of observing the different outfits people can dream up."

Throughout the years of tradition, Homecoming Week has always been a "smash hit" to support the Scarlets.

Hippie-Day, Dress-up Day, Hawaiian Day, T-Shirt-n-Shades Day and Spirit Day were all crowd-pleasers.

The Daily Review winners were Pat Loegering, a sophomore, for the best T-Shirt-n-Shades attire. Senior Kenny Deering won for his spectacular Jimmy Hendrix look-alike for Hippie-Day. Betty Bartram, a sophomore, had a true-blue Hawaiian outfit and won the Hawaiian Day contest. Sophomore Chris Hatchitt won by showing true spirit on Spirit Day by dressing up in a different variety of sport uniforms. Senior Mike Waters won the Dress-up Day contest by wearing a tuxedo.

The Powder Puff game was exciting. The sophomores and juniors had a rough, tough, lean, mean game.

The Powder Puff Cheerleaders, however, were the icing on the cake. They presented a satire of the regular Scarlet Cheerleaders.

To "hip" up Homecoming Week, Kenny Deering, a senior, poses for a picture in his Jimmy Hendrix outfit for Hippy-Day to win the Daily Review.

Putting forth a lot of effort and strenuous enthusiasm in the Tug o' War are senior Alicia Davis; juniors Susie Carlson and Darin Adams; and a senior, Melanie Wilderman. They succeeded in giving their opponents a good pull during the bonfire to support the Scarlets in the pre-game pep rally. Just another highlight of the ever-traditional Homecoming Week.

HOMECOMING QUEEN ATTENDANTS. Senior Raquel Larson, escorted by Dean Teuber (a Southeast Polk alumnus); senior Stacey Murray, escorted by alumnus Dereck Lewis; senior Kristy Gamble, escorted by senior

Jim Kerr; senior Susie Murrow, escorted by senior Tony Rose; senior Denise Buchholz, escorted by senior Jeff Shannon. Being a queen candidate is a very prestigious and honorable position.

Homecoming dance highlights October

"When I'm With You," this year's Homecoming theme, set the mood for a fun and romantic evening. The dance was held Oct. 17 from 8 to 11 p.m. in the big gym. The colors were peach and gold.

Students danced the night away to the music provided by T.K.O. Productions. The dance, organized by Student Government, turned out to be very successful. About 800 people attended, with tickets selling at $12 per couple. The money was spent on decorations, food and the disc jockey. Pictures for couples were provided by Mr. John Lethcoe for $5. Jolesch Photography provided the snapshots.

nus), Susie Murrow, escorted by senior Tony Rose; Kristy Gamble, escorted by senior Jim Kerr; Denise Buchholz, escorted by alumnus Kenny Hodges, Stacey Murray, escorted by alumnus Dereck Lewis. Denise was chosen to be the 1987 Homecoming queen by her senior classmates.

After the dance, many students got together with their friends and shared some memorable times. Senior Cindy Snow commented, "My boyfriend and I had a great time at the dance and afterwards we went to Saylorville Lake with a few friends and enjoyed a quiet and peaceful time together."

Senior Denise Buchholz seems to be astonished while the Homecoming queen cape and crown are being placed on her. Denise was voted to be the 1987 queen by her senior classmates.

One of the most enjoyable times at the dance is being able to spend a quiet moment with a special person. Seniors Dawnette Williams and Scott Brown have fun dancing together.

each grade level voted for an attendant to represent their class. The top three girls to be nominated were placed on a ballot and the one lucky girl was chosen to be an attendant.

12-B Formal is a 'Crazy Night'

Dec. 26 was definitely a "Crazy Night" at the annual 12-B Formal dance. The colors teal and fuchsia lighted up the Cloud Room at the Des Moines Municipal Airport from 8 to 11 p.m. while couples danced the night away to the music provided by the band "Critic." Memories of the dance were captured by photographs provided by Grant. The theme song was "Is This Love?" by the rock group Whitesnake.

The dance required careful planning for many weeks. Seniors Christy Rogerson and Stacey Murray, as well as 54 other senior hostesses, organized the dance. Mrs. Gwenn Copple was the sponsor. Each senior hostess bought two $20 tickets and was supposed to sell one of them to a senior or junior girl. At this dance the girls treated the guys. All of the hostesses received complimentary wine glasses for all of their effort in organizing the dance.

Senior Tammie Bleitz and her escort Felix Rivera receive their complimentary wine glasses while being announced at the annual 12-B Formal dance.

All 54 of the 12-B hostesses and their dates were announced at the dance and given this memoir.

Seniors Jimmy Carter, Jim Kerr, Stacey McCombs, Tim Osborn, Jeff Stickel, Tony Rose and in the front, Jeff Shannon enjoy being treated to a night of fun, compliments of their dates. At this dance the girls asked the guys and, if the guys were lucky, bought them dinner.

Senior Jenny Carroll quenches her thirst at the refreshment area after becoming exhausted from all the dancing.

With balloons, streamers, wall signs and other decorations waiting to be put on the ceiling and the walls, the 12-B hostesses had a great time decorating the Cloud Room for the 12-B Formal Dance. These girls woke up before the sunrise, threw on their "grubs" and arrived bright and early at 8 a.m. to help decorate. The finished rooms were beautiful.

Spree Dance a hit throughout 'world'

Pizzaz! Flair! Vervé! The International Affair can be described as all of these. One night of sparkle and flash added zip to the lives of many people.

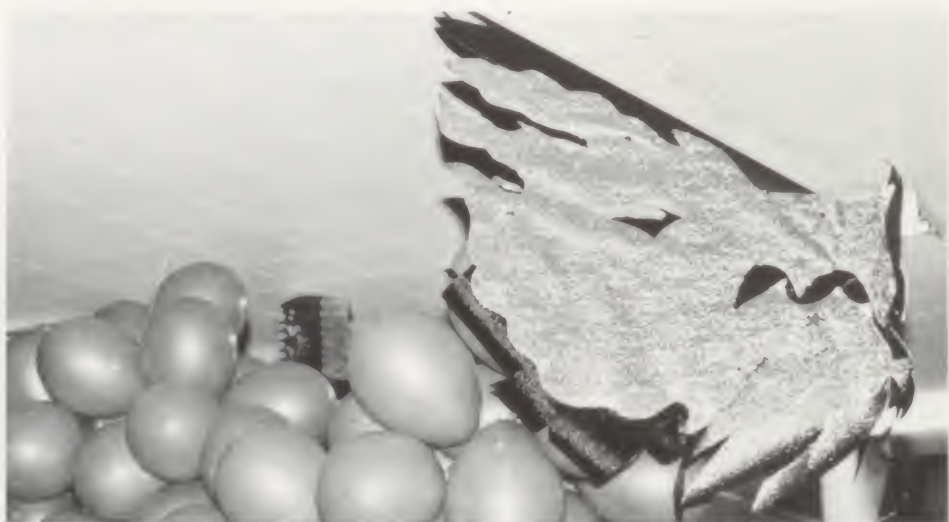

An International Affair, sponsored by the Pep "E" Club, was held Feb. 6 and showed over 200 couples a great time at the Spinsters' Spree. Giving the couples the chance to be "married" in Rome, throw a friend in "jail" in South America or take a break in the "Hard Rock Cafe" in New York were only a few of the delights of the dance. Others included dancing in Paris and having our picture taken on the "Love Boat" of the South Seas.

The highlight of the evening came when it was time to announce the Spree court, which included freshmen Tracey Adams and Chad Rinhart, sophomores Pam McClurg and Jim Tedesco, juniors Danny Headrick and Dana Danley. King and Queen were seniors Brad Roberts and Darlene Buchholz. The Pep "E" Club officers were also recognized.

Seniors Brad Roberts and Darlene Buchholz exchange a look of surprise and joy at being chosen King and Queen of the Spinsters' Spree. Soon after they danced a solo dance to "Time of Our Life," provided by Free Style.

This dragon shows only one example of the hard work the Pep "E" Club did preparing decorations for the dance. A 10-foot Eiffel Tower topped with blue balloons proudly stood on the dance floor and three three-foot pyramids introduced the Egyptian resting place. Special thanks to the metal shop classes.

Each grade had its own design for the couples' names, making it easier to find their own.

Sophomore Elaine Cook tells two prospective buyers the price of the warehouse for "The Store." While senior Amy Soderquist tries to bargain for the perfect price to get the warehouse, senior Robert Cason whistles at how much the asking price of the warehouse will be.

As senior Andy Elliot attempts to set up blackmail against junior Larry Tillotson, Larry's bodyguards, junior Bob Jarrett and sophomore Garrett Winterburg, stand aside looking on to make sure nothing crooked is slipped through without their boss knowing what's going on.

The bust begins and the entire stage jumps with tension as each character's personality begins to unfold to set a colorful tempo.

'THE STING'

Play Production challenges talented drama students

Saying their farewells, senior con artists Andy Elliott and Tim Sieleman escape with all of their loot as the play comes to an end.

The Play Production crew started off with a "bang."

After grueling hours of endless hard work and preparation, the students were ready to show the audience that they knew how to put on a good play.

On Dec. 3 and 5, "The Sting" was presented on the auditorium stage. Tickets were $3 for adults and $2 for children under 12.

"The Sting" was a big challenge to all who were involved with the acting and scenery changes. One difficulty in performing this play was that each cast member had at least two to three parts to play. On several occasions, it wasn't uncommon to see a girl playing the part of a guy, or vice-versa.

All the cast members got along very well, which helped make things go smoother when their performance was given. Ms. Ruth Ann Gaines commented on how she felt the Play Production group's performance went: "The play was very difficult, but it was a rewarding experience to all who were involved."

Starting second semester, Play Production 1 became "Play Production," and Play Production 2 was merged with music theater second semester; this combined class was given the name "Theater Arts."

You may ask yourself, "What is Theater Arts?" Theater Arts is the combination of music and theater. The students involved performed a musical in the spring of 1988. Theater Arts was taught by Ms. Ruth Ann Gaines and Mr. Kent Keating. Junior Larry Tillotson commented, "We've wanted to do a musical for a long time, but Ms. Gaines couldn't direct a musical by herself. The Play Production crew was excited by the merger of the two classes, and Mr. Keating was a very big help."

Shown here, about to enter testimony at the Iran-Contra hearings, Lt. Col. Oliver L. North, was a key official in the affair.

It all affects us

Some called it a "crash," others called it a "melt-down." To some, it was "Black Monday." Regardless, it stripped $500 billion from the market value of U.S. securities.

The events in 1987 encompassed all aspects of life, from near economic disaster to the choosing of our Miss America, from corruption in the government to a victory for the United States on the open seas.

One of the biggest scandals in decades was a plan to finance anti-government rebels in Nicaragua with money from arms sales to Iran.

On the brink of economic disaster, the world watched as the Dow Jones industrial stock average made an all-time record by losing 508 points in one day. The drop occurred on Monday, Oct. 19, and that day is now remembered as "Black Monday."

Four years after Dennis Conner lost the America's Cup in 1983, he won it back with his boat, "The Stars and Stripes," in a 4-0 victory.

Kaye Lani Rae Rafko, a former nurse, walked away from the Miss America Pageant with the title of Miss 1988.

The Stars and Stripes completed a 4-0 sweep over Australia's Kookaburra III in the race that took place in Australia.

Miss America for 1988, Kaye Lani Rae Rafko, displays a look of utter joy and amazement upon hearing her new title.

Any Way You Look At It . . .

Any Way You Look At It, East High School is a school with good basketball and football teams. A school with spirit. A school with pride. A school that has fun. A school with the best yearbook. But high school is not for sports, spirit or good yearbooks. It is for academic learning. East High also excels in academics. The academic-letter program provides an incentive for students to strive for excellence.

A new class was added this year to the curriculum at East High: Sociology. It was taught by Mr. Fred Vanderley.

East High excels in sports, spirit and especially academics.

Senior Jim Cummings relaxes in the sun while studying for an upcoming test. Many students were found outside either studying or having fun.

ACADEMICS

Banquet held in honor of East's team of 66 top winning students

To earn a letter in sports is difficult. To earn an Academic Letter seems impossible. But to 66 students, it was a matter of diligence and hard work.

During the 1986-87 school year, 26 students earned their second letter and received a bar. Forty others earned their first, receiving a letter. A banquet held Sept. 15 honored these students for the hard work and excessive effort used to earn such a prestigious award.

To obtain an Academic Letter, one must maintain a grade-point average of 3.6 for two consecutive semesters and carry five academic subjects, P.E. not included. This may not seem too difficult, but most of the students who achieved this goal took courses like Chemistry, Trigonometry, Algebra I or II and many others just as difficult, still maintaining the outstanding average needed.

Although there have been several academic clubs, last year was the first year an academic letter was ever given at East High. The letter was designed by the academic committee of 1985-86, which included 12 students. Mrs. Susan Stroope was in charge of the committee this year.

East High's Academic Letter was first designed in 1985 by the Academic Committee of that year.

Senior Julie Garrison studies diligently to obtain the much-desired Academic Letter. Her hard work paid off.

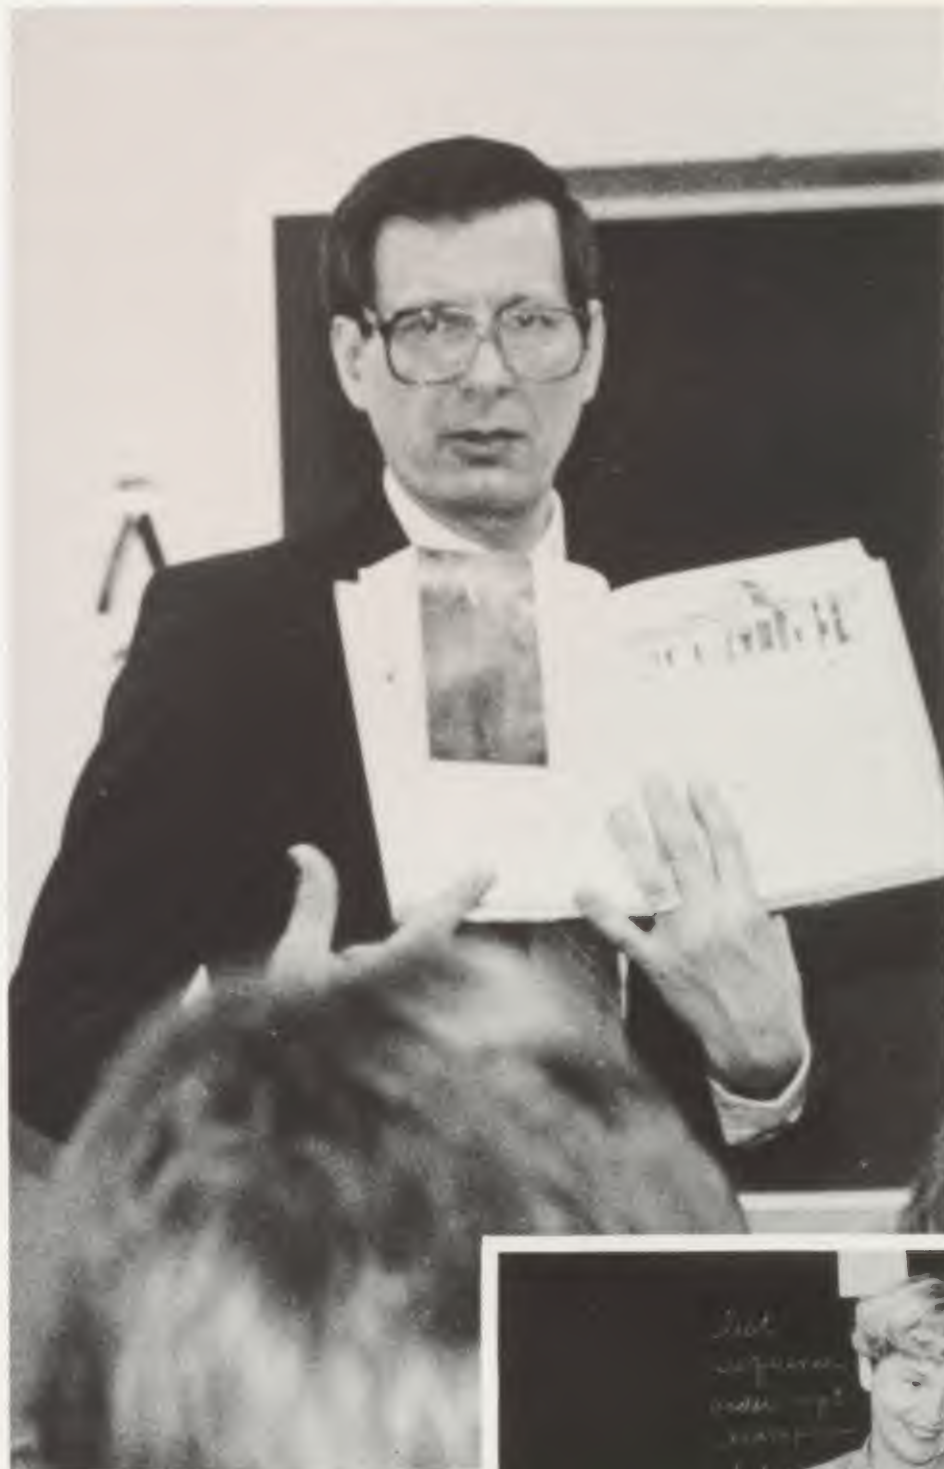

Senior Celene Gogerty proudly displays her Academic Letter on her East High jacket. Sixty-six students earned letters this year.

The Remedial English teacher, Mrs. Mary Rita Seckington, shows her class how to improve reading comprehension and writing abilities. Her smile means that improvement was made.

New Sociology, Remedial classes draw students

Sociology is the study of mankind's communities and societies. Forty students this year became "sociologists," and even more enrolled for next year.

Mr. Fred Vanderley, the sole sociology teacher, instructed a well-rounded course that dealt with many subjects, from drugs to famines. Many of the students remarked that they learned a lot about other parts of the world and learned to cope with their problems. The class was open to juniors and seniors.

Mrs. Dena Lewellyn and Mrs. Mary Rita Seckington started new classes to help students who had problems in regular math or English classes. The remediation project was called The Des Moines Plan and was meant for the bottom 5 percent of the students.

The classes were meant to help students in certain areas where their skills were weak. A student could have straight A's in math but need extra help in English. The classes have been a great help to those students weak in math and English.

Wide variety of courses offered in Science Dept.

Eight courses in science are taught in the Science Department.

First of these is Earth Science. Mr. John Rudisill, the chairperson of the Science Department, Ms. Sarah Klahn, a new teacher this year, and Mr. Rollie Bramhall teach this class.

Second is Physical Science, which is taught by Mrs. Susan Stroope.

The next class is Biology, taught by Mr. Richard Johnson, Mr. Ray Patrilla, Mr. Paul Sloan and Mrs. Stroope.

The fourth is General Science. Ms. Klahn also teaches this class.

A course taken before Chemistry or Physics is Introduction to Chemistry and Physics. This class is taught by Mr. Ed Peterson.

After that comes Chemistry. Mr. Larry Hutzell teaches this class.

Next is Physics, which is taught by Mr. Peterson.

The last course taught in the Science Department is Physiology. This is taught by Mr. Sloan.

Most of these courses can be taken at any of the four grade levels.

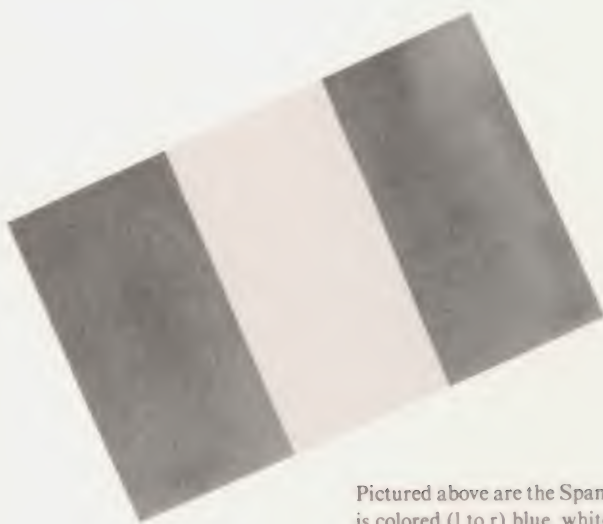

Mr. Paul Sloan, Biology and Physiology teacher, gives a look of intense concentration as he demonstrates and explains a model of a molecule. Mr.

Sloan, very knowledgeable in the field of science, is respected by both his students and the faculty of East.

Foreign language valuable to teens

Foreign language should be important to all high school students these days. Knowing more than one language can help with a student's future career, traveling and even talking to the neighbor.

Today, almost everywhere you go or whatever you do, you'll find someone who speaks a language other than English.

Two different languages are offered in the Foreign Language Department at East. Both Spanish and French are offered, levels one through five.

If the student is not interested in Spanish or French, he can see if any of the foreign languages offered at Central Campus interest him.

Most junior highs offer some kind of foreign language to eighth graders. A lot of the time these eighth graders can count this as a credit in high school.

In most Iowa colleges, it is required that a student take at least two years of a foreign language. This is true at the University of Iowa and Iowa State University.

common questions asked in the Foreign Language Department. In both Spanish and French, these phrases mean "Hello, how are you?" In the picture above, Ms. Iverson interprets French to Mrs. Copple.

Office Education gets students off to a great start

Office Education is a vocational training program which prepares students for making their career choices in the business world. These jobs provide on-the-job training, as well as learning new skills, working with different machines and getting along with other people. This is a great opportunity for students to earn money while they learn.

The program tries to place every student in his career choice. Mr. Gene Wanek, chairperson of the Business Department, keeps sending the students to job interviews until everybody is placed. Some of the places student work include IBM, elementary schools, transitional schools, Erickson Displays and even a dentist's office. A wide variety of different jobs is offered to the students.

The students go to school for half a day and then go to work. They earn a half-unit of credit. They work a minimum of 15 hours each week. While they are on the job, they are evaluated by their company supervisor, who fills out work reports on them, and by their coordinator, Mr. Wanek, who determines their grades.

Senior Steve Kirkpatrick sells ads for the yearbook. He sold an ad to Mr. Carl Cain, who works for Iowa Power. He is waiting while Mr. Cain writes up the ad.

Leadership skills provided by New Horizons and NFL

The New Horizons Program is an alternative education program for young people. Serving as director of the program at East is Ms. Fannie Wilson. The program encourages students to stay in school, develop employment skills and improve their self-confidence.

The students work at different jobs throughout the city. Students attend school for half a day and then go to work. When they complete the program, they receive one-half unit of credit.

Do you know what NFL stands for? It stands for National Forensics League, which is sponsored by Mrs. Meg Faidley. It is an organization that encourages students to use their thinking and speaking abilities. This organization helps an individual to become an effective speaker and trains him to be a leader.

NFL students participate in various tournaments, such as Debate and Mock Trial. They travel all over the country, but mostly in Iowa.

Junior Stephanie Kitchel, with concentration, prepares for a debate tournament. This takes hours of preparation and determination.

Any Way You Look At It . . .

Any Way You Look At it, the halls of E.H.S. were once again crowded. The total number of students this year was 2,039, with the Freshman Class being the largest. The staff count was 142. East was the second largest school in the metro, with Lincoln being first. The crowds were found in many other places than the building alone. The bleachers were filled at most sporting events, the lunchroom was overcrowded, the classes were again large and the parking problem was still existent.

Released time was a privilege given to juniors and seniors, and this was the biggest year for it. An astonishing number of over 200 seniors took advantage of this privilege. This year's Senior Class has a bright future.

“Picking out the best”

Junior Missy Hoffman “picks Darin Adams out of the best,” while juniors Bill Reed, Matt Rogness and Chad Boydston stare in amazement and disbelief wondering why?

What skill our students have!

the warm sunshine during lunch hour. Frisbee became one of the games they seemed to like best.

Juniors buried in pamphlets

Junior Pam Hardin sits on the floor, surrounded by college pamphlets. When juniors take the PSAT, and say they want to be sent college information, they don't know what they're getting into. Juniors collect enough junk mail in one year to fill at least one drawer in their dresser.

Help! I'm lost!

In a big school like East, it is not hard to get lost, especially if you're a freshman. In this picture senior Tim Osborn directs freshman Linda-Kay Williams to her class.

'Mirror, mirror on the wall ...'

'Who's the best dancer of them all?' Could this be what freshman Brandi Elder is thinking as she practices her dance steps? Since dancing requires much movement, it can be a good form of exercise. To be a good dancer, one must have determination and one must also practice, practice, practice and practice. Because Brandi has that determination, she could one day become "the best dancer of them all."

of space needed to accommodate those who chose to eat in the lunch room was a problem experienced by all.

Prior promotes production of pride

"It's a feeling of accomplishment," said Principal Barbara Prior when she was asked why East High has such strong spirit. And East High, as a whole, has never had that feeling of accomplishment more than now. With many new ideas and activities put into motion, Mrs. Prior worked extremely hard to make sure that the school year ran smoothly.

The general goals for the year were to "ensure that East High School provides optimum opportunities for the students" and to provide a "pleasant place for students to learn and staff to work," according to Mrs. Prior, and these goals were well met. Mrs. Prior described herself as the educational leader who is concerned with academics and other activities. Some of the "other activities" included implementing the Des Moines Public School Board's Des Moines Plan and check-point testing.

Out of all the tremendous number of activities and distinguished honors bestowed upon East, Mrs. Prior commented that it was the students and staff that made her proud to be at East. That is a feeling we can all take pride in.

Looking briefly up from her extremely detailed paper work, Principal Barbara Prior flashes a radiant smile — a sight that all faculty and students have become accustomed to.

Soft, chewy, scrumptious cookies; crisp taco salads; tasty peanut butter and jelly; hot, delicious, melted grilled cheese; and garden fresh salads. These are samples of what our lunch ladies provided for us. They spent numerous hours every day preparing a variety of foods for East students and teachers to eat.

Our lunch ladies deserve a break today! Students often blame their dislikes of school food on our lovable lunch ladies. The simple fact is that it is not their fault. The government and school supervisors select certain food brands to be served. Also, the National School Lunch Program requires schools to serve a well-balanced meal which will provide a third of the recommended necessary daily nutrients. Finally, the school must stay within budget limits and a cost of 85 cents per lunch.

The custodians are a very important group of people who do a lot of work but get little recognition. Cleaning the hallways and bathrooms, waxing floors and doing minor repairs and maintenance. These were the jobs of our custodians. We had two crews, one for the day and one for the night.

Our part-time helpers could be seen throughout the year monitoring the girls' basement restroom and picking up trash discarded by students in the halls, lunchroom and outside.

Any Way You Look At It

Any Way You Look At It, "a quitter never wins, a winner never quits." This is the East High motto for success in sports endeavor.

The East High football team came from behind twice to prove that they would never quit.

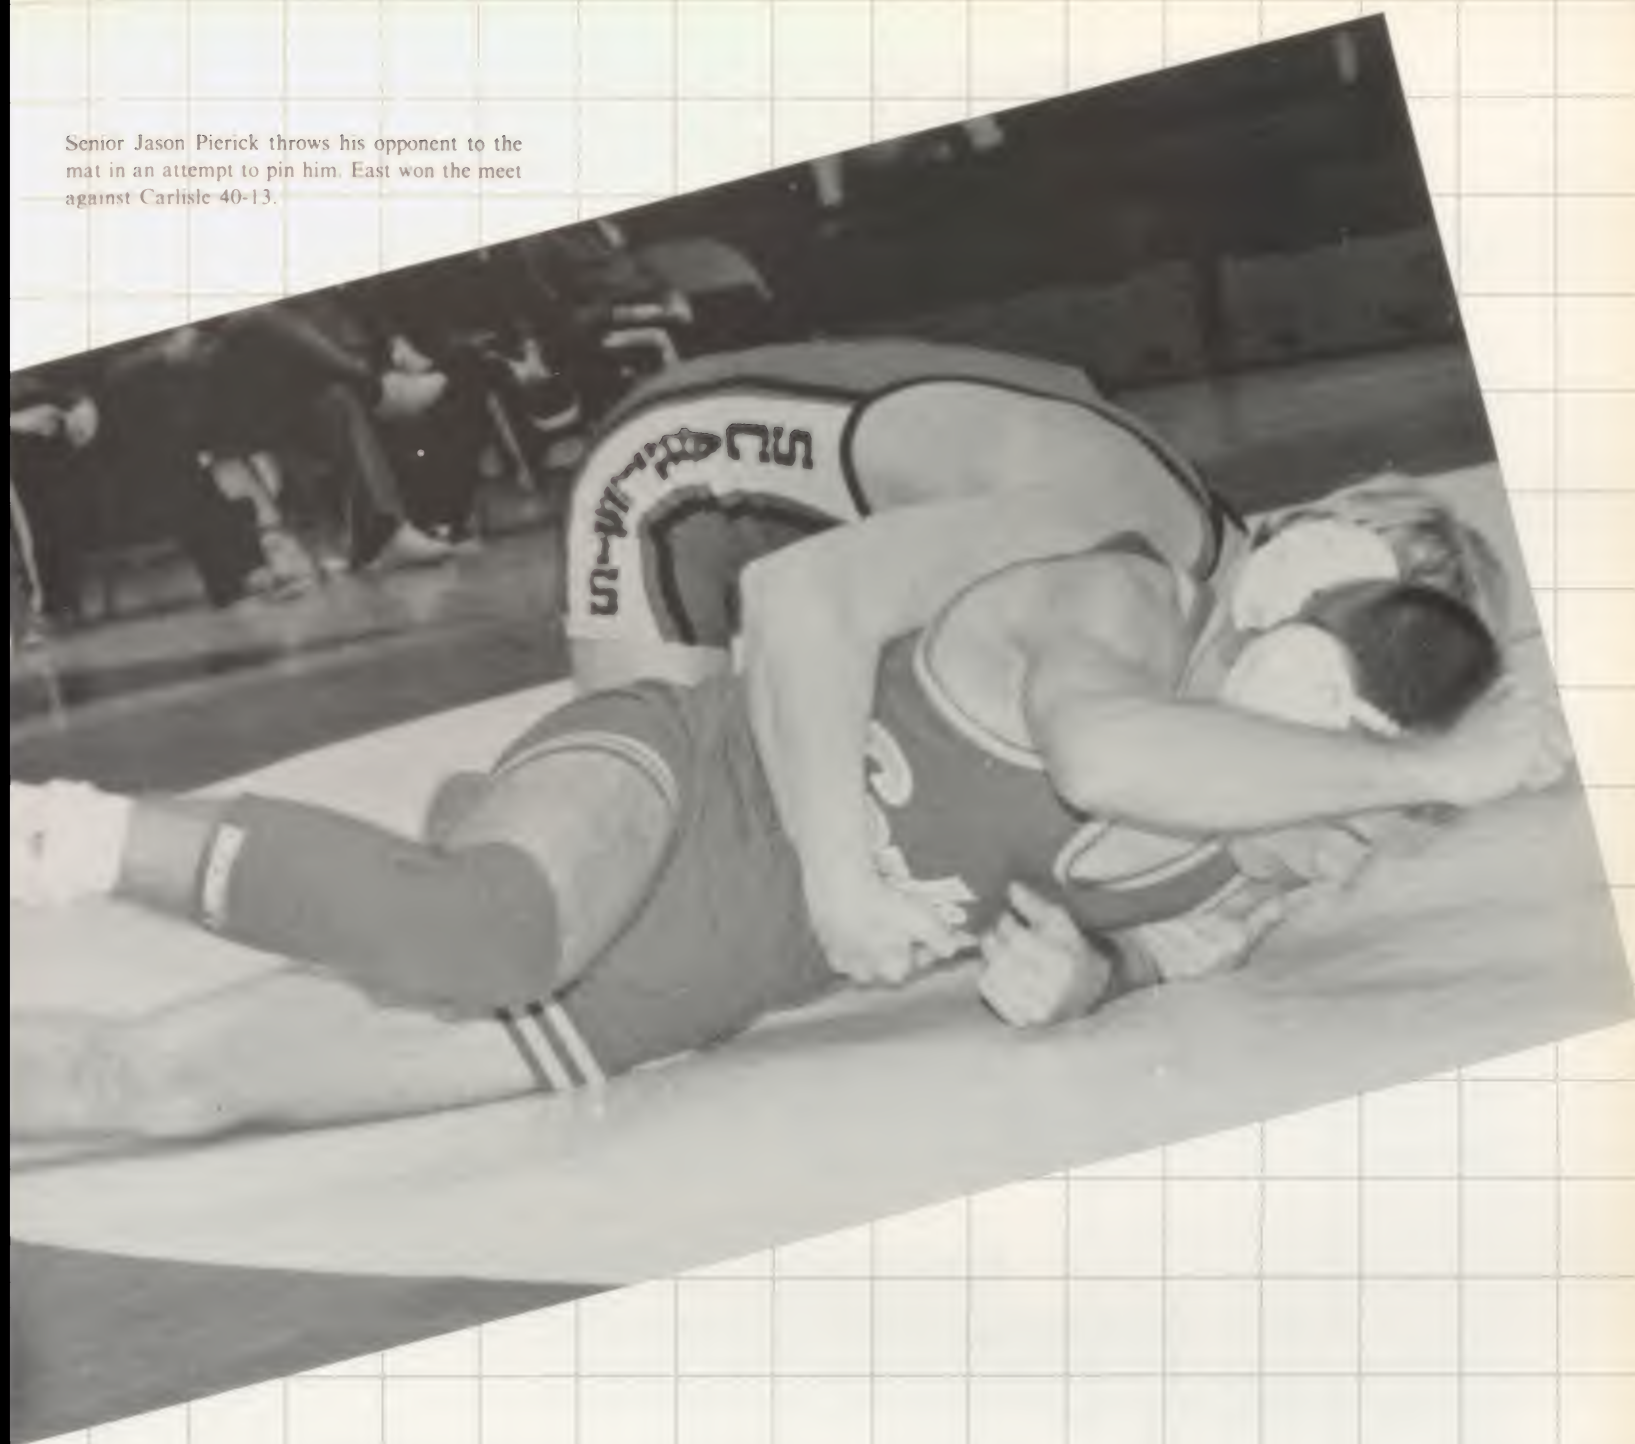

The East High boys' golf team had its best season in over 15 years, finishing with a 4-3 record. The team was dominated by 10 seniors who were very experienced.

The East High girls' volleyball team also had an impressive season which boosted support for the sport by students and teachers.

East High spread its success throughout many different sports programs. East High will never quit.

The junior varsity girls' softball team, coached by Ms. Mary Bourne, had an excellent season. With a record of 8-8-3, these team members showed a tremendous effort in order to achieve a winning season. Many freshman players were moved up to the junior varsity team, which allowed them to earn valuable experience. The team's leading hitter this season was freshman Rachele Clark.

The freshman girls' softball team also had a winning season, with a record of 9-1. They were led in pitching by Shelly Milligan. The freshman players are all anxious for their next three years of softball, and with all their experience combined, they should prove to be a winning team in the future.

BOYS' TRACK

Boys' track team has hope for state in 1988

Having a balance of older, more experienced team members helped the 1987 boys' track team produce a great track season.

The highlight of the boys' track season came when they placed second in the Urbandale track meet and set two meet records: in the distance medley relay with graduates David Ackley, Todd Christensen, and Robbie Smith, and senior Elmer Peters; and the 1,600-meter relay with graduates Brian Calderson and Robbie Smith, and seniors Elmer Peters and Troy Tyler.

To top off the season, the boys' team qualified for four relay events at the state track meet and sent graduates

Todd Christensen (1600-meter run) and Robbie Smith (800-meter run) to place seventh and eighth, respectively.

While the weakness of the team was youth and injuries, Head Coach Don Graves commented, "We had a good season that was plagued in the latter part by injuries. Before the team injuries, they were one of the top teams in the state."

BOYS' TENNIS

Hard work and dedication pay off for 1987 tennis team

The 1987 boys' tennis team had a very successful season. They placed second at the Ankeny Invitational tournament and defeated many teams that they hadn't beaten in the past.

Senior leadership and an early victory at Ankeny gave the team a boost of confidence that helped them work toward building one of the best tennis teams at East.

The letterwinners were junior Bill Snitker and seniors Joe Pavon, Jim Grant, Russ Lane, Paul Rupprecht and Tom Rupprecht.

When asked about the 1987 season, Coach Pat Knott commented, "First we were runner-up in our district, which qualified us for team tennis. Then we played the winners of another district. We lost, but it extended our season for another match. I feel it was a great season."

Seniors Joe Pavon and Jim Grant display their superb tennis skills while having fun.

"We learned a lot this year, thanks to Coaches Joyce Smith and Dale Betts. Our skills improved a lot from the beginning of the year. I'm looking forward to the upcoming season." — Annette Woodard, junior

Although the scores didn't show it, the girls' tennis team had a great year. With only six returning players, the team was very young and inexperienced.

The accomplishments of this team surpassed those of many other tennis teams. Most of the girls began with little knowledge of tennis, but worked hard, improving their skills tremendously. The girls worked together, cheering one another on during the meets. They had a lot of fun and are looking forward to a better season next year.

East boys' golf team has its best season in 15 years

Birdies, pars and rounds in the low 80's — these were accomplishments of the 1987 boys' golf team as they had their best season in 15 years.

There were 21 members on the team, and 10 of them were seniors. Senior Tom Rupprecht led the team with an average score of 82, while senior captain Bob Snyder had an average of 83. Bob said, "I feel we had a successful season this year, and I wish the best of luck to the '88 team." The highlight of the season came when East finished third in the Valley Classic at Lake Panorama.

Mr. Gerald Cowles, coach of the team, said, "I think we had a very good season and became a strong metro team."

"Out of all my years on the golf team, this was, without a doubt, our most successful season. I felt that we showed the metro conference that East was a team to beat." — Tom Rupprecht, senior

The girls' cross-country team started off strong. The seniors placed first at Urbandale in the first meet and the following week the team won the Kindy's Classic, also held at Urbandale. The team tied for fourth place for their best finish ever in the metro meet.

The varsity included seniors Tracey McLeod, Kris Murphy, Shirley Ramos and Shannon Sage and juniors Sherry Grother and Dorie Hammer. Senior Shannon Sage was named to the All-Metro Academic Team All-Conference.

The best time ever was broken this year by senior Kris Murphy. She had a time of 12:15 at the Cardinal Invitational in Newton. Kris could have been a state qualifier, but she was hampered by injuries at the end of the season.

Five seniors will leave this year and four letterwinners will return next season.

Junior David Maxwell displays near-perfect running form. In his first year out, he was running varsity by the end of the season.

This year was a big change for the boys' cross country team. The distance of the races was increased from two miles to three and one-tenth miles. Coach Don Graves felt that the team adjusted well to the increase.

The team, which included only 24 members, had a fairly good season, placing first in the Augustine and Cardinal Invitionals for the second year in a row.

Seniors Bill Loegering and Eric John were team captains. The varsity was led by seniors Elmer Peters, Bill Loegering, Eric John and Rich Slifka, juniors Rod Chamberlain, David Maxwell and David Stott, and sophomore Mike Robinson.

"Cross country builds strength, endurance and personality. The leadership of Coach Don Graves unites these traits in each runner to produce a winning season." — Jim Cummings, senior Seven seniors will be lost, but 13 letterwinners will return for next year.

"If we can stay away from injuries, we should have a good season next year," commented Coach Graves.

Senior Jeff Crouse shows how tough cross country can be. This year was the hardest ever because of the increase in the distance.

Scarlets post two comeback victories in metro

The varsity football team had its "ups and downs" as members displayed teamwork and determination throughout the season. This was Head Coach Bill Carlson's third year as coach, and he led his team into a tie for fourth place in the metro.

At the start of the season the Scarlets became a major force in the metro, after they posted two comeback victories over Roosevelt and Valley. Coach Carlson said, "The highlight of the season came when the team played well and gained success in the first half of the season."

Injuries began to plague the team as East lost their last five games. Coach Carlson said, "In all my years of coaching, I have never had a team suffer so many key injuries as this team has." He continued, "Even though frustrated by the injuries, our players bounced back after close losses."

Senior Troy Tyler had an outstanding year as he rushed for 1,240 yards and was named first team all-metro and third team all-state. Senior Jeff Carmichael, junior Chris Wood, senior Kenny Burgess and senior Dusty Sheets were also named first-team all-metro.

The team's strengths included Troy's running ability, the unity among the players and the execution of the clutchplay. Injuries suffered by the players and the lack of depth to cover their positions were the weaknesses of the Scarlets.

At the end of the season the coaching staff named Troy Tyler as the offensive player of the year while Chris Woods was named defensive player of the year.

Freshman Football

Freshman sportsmanship will enhance next year's team

Throughout the season none of the metro teams' games were easy, but the East High freshman football team, with hard work and perseverance, proved that they should have been taken more seriously.

There were several highlights of the season, such as the games with North, Roosevelt and Ames. The heartbreaking defeats were the ones that were hard to handle, but these defeats only made the team more determined to win the upcoming game.

With one of the best quarterbacks in the metro, and also a very good defensive line, the freshman team was not plagued by their weaknesses in depth and speed.

Head Coach Bob Carmichael said, "This freshman football team could have been 5 and 2 very easily. Hopefully, they will continue to work in the off season and become even better."

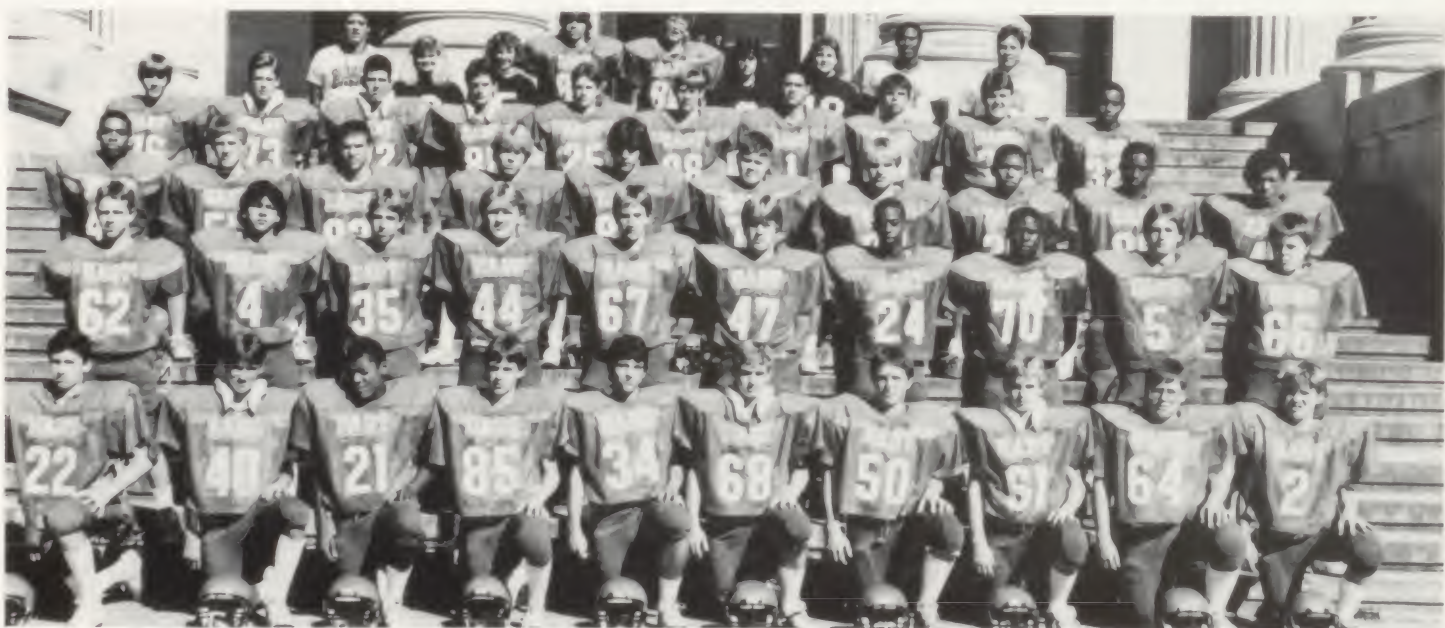

"Our team was good, but could have been better. Next year the squad will be much more experienced. It was a tough season, but with a lot of hard work, the guys should pull it together." — Gerald James, freshman Team unity is what it takes for a team to become successful. That's what the sophomore football team learned this season.

Starting off the season slowly hindered the players, but as the season progressed, every team member supported all the others. That helped them to win three games in a row.

Assistant Coach Ted Christensen commented, "With the capable guidance of the varsity coaches, the sophomores, with this year's juniors, will be very competitive and will make a powerful football team next year."

JV team spike their way to runners-up in tournament

Ms. Kathy Erickson was the junior varsity volleyball coach. She thought it was a good season and that the players had a lot of depth. She enjoyed a great season and is expecting many more.

The team's greatest strength was having control of the ball on offense. The team had some outstanding setters and hitters. This became apparent when they joined together as a team, worked hard and became the runners-up in the JV tournament held at Dowling.

Every team needs statisticians; on JV they were Jenny Baysinger and Amy Dalbey. Their jobs were to keep scores and help out the coaches.

"The season went really well. We worked more as a team and played to the best of our abilities. We had a lot of fun, but didn't let it get in the way of our work." — Cindy Quick, sophomore

One of JV's greatest strengths, according to the coach, was their ability to control the ball. Sophomore Michelle Petty shows this by single-handedly

BASKETBALL

Young, spirited team shows promising future

The girls' varsity basketball team started off the season slowly, but as the season progressed, the girls ended the season strong.

Events that highlighted the girls' varsity team were the victories over Hoover and Ames away from home, and at the end of the season the girls' varsity team won two of the last three games.

Height and shooting were major factors the girls' varsity team lacked, but they were strongest in their quickness and speed, which compensated for any weakness this team had.

Leaders of the girls' varsity team included senior Tracey McLeod, who received honorable mention all-conference and was one of the top rebounders in the state; and sophomore Betty Bartram, who was named to second team all-conference.

Head Coach Mark Tiby said, "The difference in our season goals was losing six very close games that would have made our record very respectable."

The girls' varsity team was very young, and that left several years more for improvement.

"Although our record didn't show it, we worked well together as a team. There were several games we lost that were very close.

Next year's team, have a great season."

BASKETBALL

Boys' varsity struggle through an uphill season.

"Teamwork, determination and hard work." These words describe the 1987-8 boys' varsity basketball team as they struggled their way to a 4-15 record.

Four letterwinners returned from last year: seniors Matt Mikesch, Scott Brown, Chad Ira and team captain Dusty Sheets. These four guys provided leadership and encouragement to the team.

Scott Brown led the Scarlets with an average of 13.2 points and 4 rebounds per game. He scored a season high of 32 points in a close loss against highly ranked Dowling, 67 to 74.

As the season progressed, the Scarlets improved their shooting and rebounding but still weren't able to pull off any upsets. Coach Chuck Sutherland said, "We beat the teams we were supposed to, but there was always one bad quarter that stopped us from making any upsets."

East had one of the smaller teams in the conference and was usually mismatched. Coach Sutherland said, "The guys played hard and did a good job, but they didn't reach the potential they should have."

Senior Brad Hamilton takes it to the hoop against an opposing player.

Senior Kelly Cox shows both poise and skill as he takes a short jumper over a Lincoln defender. East lost the game and was 0-2 against Lincoln for the season.

SOPH BOYS

Despite hard work, team suffers disappointing season

The slogan above the Physical Education Department definitely speaks for the 1987-8 sophomore boys' basketball team. During a discouraging no-win season, the team never gave up. Coach Ted Christensen said, "These guys never quite working during the season; they aren't losers, and above all else, not quitters."

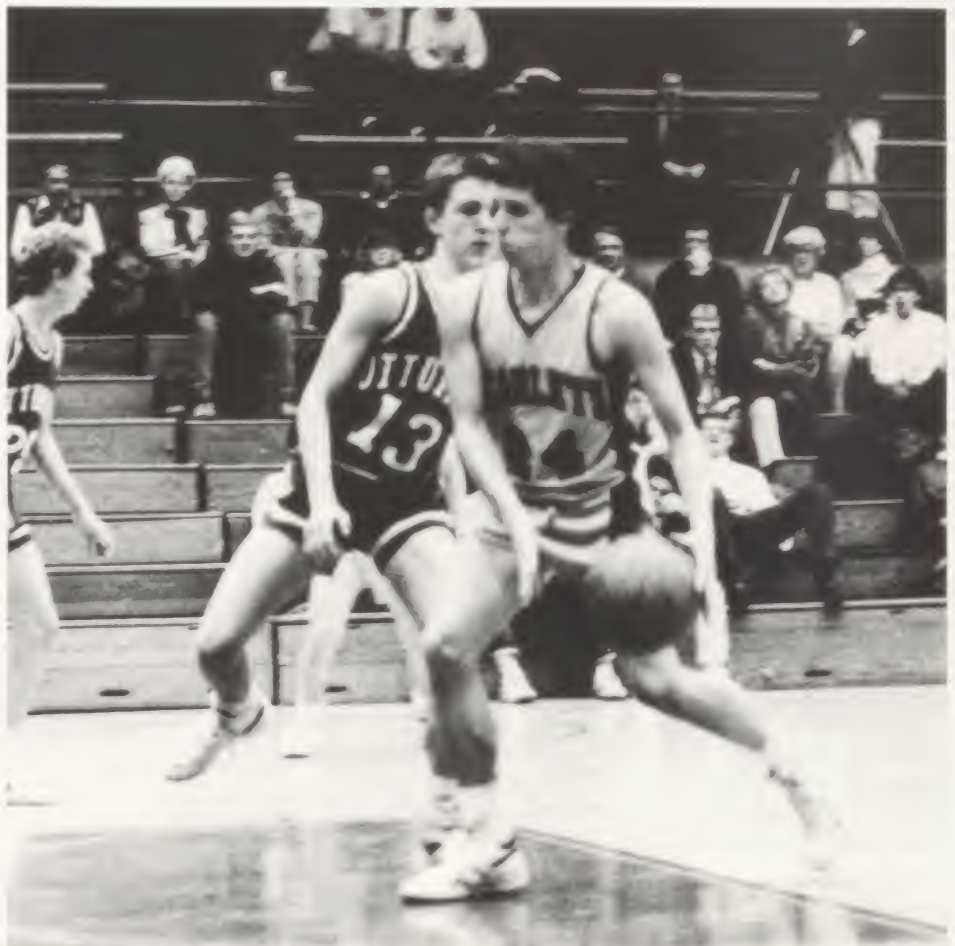

Being prepared to work and putting forth all their effort were team goals established at the beginning of the season. Another goal was to improve as the season went on; they did this by losing to Valley by less than 10 points the second time they played, whereas they lost by more than 40 points the first time they met!

Positive attitudes, enthusiasm and hard work paid off for the boys' swim team. Through everything, they learned to work together as a team.

The team lacked in the number of swimmers, which hurt greatly in dual meets. Also, because of the injury to diver Jody McLaughlin, the team lacked points in the diving event.

The team was led by the enthusiasm of team captains Jamil Wardak and Eric John, both seniors. The most valuable and all-around swimmer was junior David Ruttenburg. The most improved swimmer was sophomore Steve Cardis.

Letterwinners this season were seniors Eric John, Jamil Wardak, Eric Nichols, Tim Wellman; juniors David Ruttenburg, Bill King, Chad Knight, Chad Wilson; sophomore Steve Cardis.

Showing good improvement for a first-year swim team member was senior Tim Wellman from West Germany. The team really enjoyed him as he helped keep the team motivated at each meet during the season.

WRESTLING

Scarlet wrestlers on war path for victorious season

The 1987-8 wrestling season was a season full of hard work, dedication and determination. The seniors led the way this year, but there are still many good prospects for years to come. Even though they had two practices daily, they unfortunately did not qualify anyone for state.

Junior Jeremy Mattison received second, and senior Brad Roberts received an honorable mention in all-Metro. Senior Brad Roberts commented, "Although we had a fun year, we didn't do as well as we hoped; but we learned the two things we were supposed to: respect and discipline."

Although there was a lack of depth in the higher weights, the team made up for it in the lower weights. This was apparent when juniors Tui Phommachakr (105 pounds) and Jeremy Mattison (112 pounds) both won first place in the West Monona Invitational. The team placed third over all.

The varsity team was coached by Mr. Gary Rourke. His assistant was Mr. Rich Bright and the freshman coach was Mr. Bob Carmichael. The team had three managers: senior Anna Grandstaff, freshman Milisa Case and freshman Deana Huck. Together they made the team complete. What sport would be complete without Cheerleaders? The team had three of them: senior Melanie Wilderman, senior Kim Douglass and junior Susie Carlson. The team sold M&M's for their bus trip to West Monona. GYMNASTICS

Gymnasts tumble to success in their final performance

Gymnastics' last year didn't go out with a bang, but with a tearful good-bye. This year was the last year for gymnastics because the Iowa Athletic Union said there would be no more competitive high school gymnastics. Two of the reasons for this bad news included high insurance rates and lack of support at the meets.

Members tried out for positions on the squad. They had to know some gymnastics ahead of time or they wouldn't have been able to compete because most of the girls started gymnastics at an early age. Practices were held from 3:30 to 5 every night during the competitive season. Mrs. Joyce Smith and Mrs. Diana Hatfield coached the group. Captains were junior Jenny Burns and junior Chris Harless from Lincoln.

A building season for a talented young soccer team

The highlight of the 1987 soccer season came when East tied Dowling and Lincoln, two of the top teams in the metro, in their opening games. Late in the season, East defeated Lincoln 7-2.

At the beginning of the season, the soccer team had nine seniors on the team, but by the end of the year they were left with one. Because of the loss of those eight guys, the team lacked senior leadership and experience.

Head Coach Greg Holland said, "Next year the team will have a good nucleus of kids and will probably be an upper-division team."

Senior Rod Welsher outruns an opposing S.E. Polk player to set up for a scoring kick.

"Although we lost most of our seniors throughout the season, the team did all right. We have a lot of experienced players coming back next season

Whenever a Scarlet team claims victory, all the credit usually goes to the players and coaches, but what about the people behind the scenes? Managers played a major role in sporting events. They took care of the equipment, swept the floors, cleaned mats and prepared athletes before games. But most of all, they provided encouragement throughout the season.

Junior Kenna Leo, wrestling manager, said, "These last two years, I have enjoyed being a wrestling manager very much. I have met many hard-working guys who had a tremendous amount of dedication and talent. I have kept score at tournaments and meets, and have watched many wrestlers succeed."

Any Way You Look At It . . .

Any Way You Look At It, every extracurricular organization at East proved to be superior. This student involvement was part of what made East an outstanding school.

Several hours were put in before and after school to make these organizations successful. Whether it was organizing a dance, debating an issue, playing in the band, participating in Student Government or improving the school's image, East was represented well. The dedication and involvement of the students were important parts of building the pride felt at East.

The organizations benefited not only the school, but also the students. Being part of an organization brought a happy and memorable experience to all students.

Blood, sweat and tears were shed trying to make this the best yearbook ever. Those that accomplished this feat of both pain and joy had the added enjoyment of knowing that all who owned an '88 yearbook would remember their work for a lifetime.

The 25 students involved in laying out, writing and checking the book soon learned the meaning of "deadline." With 4 deadlines a year of about 70 pages each, "deadline" became a dreaded word. Every student had an average of 6 spreads, or 12 pages. This may sound easy, but when one person has to write 48 lines of copy, write 1 to 2 headlines, write 5 captions, crop 5 pictures and fit all of this on 2 pages, it's not so easy. Thanks to the hardworking editors, the staff met each deadline with barely a hitch.

The Quill Staff was brought to order and organized by the three competent editors. Seniors, Editor Heather Beardsley and Assistant Editors Jim Grant and Christy Rogerson were elected at the close of the 1987 school year. Their remarkable talent and determination became a model for the other staff members.

Seniors Jim Grant and Paul Rupprecht attended the University of Iowa Yearbook Camp to gain added knowledge and ideas. The camp was held from July 5 to July 10, 1987.

Excellent content, controversy provide publicity for Scroll

The Scroll Staff kicked off the school year with an interesting, fact-filled newspaper. The staff received attention from local news stations, The Des Moines Register, the school faculty and Des Moines Public School administrators. This attention was caused by the controversial but interesting content of the paper. Editor Darin Larsen, senior, commented, "I think the publicity we received has been positive, not only for the paper, but also for East High."

An abundance of staff opinions, as well as excellent leadership, provided for an outstanding newspaper. The staff members were willing to express their opinions and accept the consequences. As a result, the student body and other readers became more interested in the school paper; more letters to the editor were received than in most previous years.

Another change from previous years was the nameplate. There were also special issues printed, such as the Christmas and election issues, which both contained color.

When asked about the quality of the staff, the publications adviser, Mr. George Christian, said, "This is one of the best, perhaps the best, Scroll Staffs I have ever worked with."

Photographers flash Scarlet spirit

Many times you have heard, on the intercom, clubs being called to the cafeteria lobby for their yearbook pictures. Taking yearbook pictures was just one of the jobs of the photographers. Directed by Mr. John Lethcoe, the student photographers were also responsible for pictures in the East High Scroll Newspaper and the PTSA (Parent-Teacher-Student Association) Newsletter.

To become part of this group, you had to first take Photo I. Then, with the teacher's approval, you entered Photo II. Mr. Lethcoe then chose some of the students to enter the Photojournalism class. Many of the students also took Communications Media.

Mr. Lethcoe's requirements for entering the Photojournalism class included responsibility, good attendance and a superior knowledge of photography.

Graphics students produce fine layouts

Graphics is a department you know little of, but it helps East in many different ways. The students in Graphics, guided by Mr. Jeff Bock, printed and laid out the PTSA Newsletter and The East High Scroll Newspaper. The class also printed tickets for Homecoming, Prom and Spree; play production posters; programs for the major assemblies during the year; and attendance cards.

Graphics students were required to take Industrial Arts their freshman year and Graphic Arts in their sophomore year.

"Graphics is a lot of work, but it is also fun. I would recommend this class to anyone interested in a career in communications," commented junior Charles Bets.

Student Gov't sets goal to involve students

The 1987-88 Student Government had one goal: to involve as many students as possible. This was accomplished by hard work and by sponsoring many events such as the Fall Sports Jamboree, Blood Drive, Computer Dance and Homecoming.

The officers for the first semester were elected at the end of the 1986-7 school year with the election of Kristy Gamble as President, Vice-president Tony Rose, Secretary Susie Murrow and Treasurer Missy McAninch. Second-semester officers were elected on Jan. 27; two new officers were elected: Melissa Boehmke was elected as treasurer and the new president was Tim Osborn.

Student Government was sponsored by Mr. Walt Kennedy, who commented, "They had a lot of good ideas which proved to make excellent activities for the students."

Mounts gone; congeniality rewarded

“Last year we built a mount so high with lights up on the top, but it fell down to the ground; we were told we had to stop!” This is part of a chant the Varsity Cheerleaders did at the Christmas Assembly as they were building their mount flat on the ground. They teased the students of E.H.S. in their way of telling everyone that they can no longer do mounts. It was a major change for the Cheerleaders, since most of their former routines involved mounts or partner stunts.

The Varsity Cheerleaders attended the International Cheerleading Foundation camp at the University of Northern Iowa last summer, July 19-July 22. They worked very hard and were awarded many ribbons throughout the week, such as: outstanding improvement, creativity, home cheer, cheer execution, super-spirit award and an overall excellence ribbon.

The last day of camp, despite the tough competition, the squad took second place in the large-varsity division, and for the first time in East's history, they were voted by all the other squads the most congenial squad at the camp. With this award they received a trophy and a $500 gift certificate to be used at the Cheers Company; they used the money to buy new Christmas outfits.

The captain of the Varsity Cheerleaders was Susie Murrow, and the co-captains were Denise Buchholz of Red Squad and Melanie Wilderman of Black Squad. When asked about the past year, Susie said, “The 1987-88 year was different from what I expected for the Cheerleaders. It began with the banning of all mounts and partner stunts. This was, for many of us, the biggest disappointment possible. Even with this major change, I felt this year has been a great one for the squad.”

Cheerleaders capture second place

Good Cheerleaders should be responsible, dedicated, outgoing, dependable and, above all, spirited. The sophomore squad certainly proved they had all of these qualities and more when they went to camp this past summer, July 19-22, at the University of Northern Iowa.

The squad practiced every day to get ready for the camp, and all the hard work certainly paid off when they took second place Grand Champs, the Sparkle-and-Shine award, the 110-percent award for their effort and an award for their home cheer.

"We've improved as a squad since our freshman year, and we have grown a lot closer. I think we will do even better at camp next year," commented Andi Baysinger, captain. The adviser for this squad was counselor Paul Poehlein. "We've had a lot of good times this year, and hopefully we can have a lot more fun together in the future, not only as friends, but as a squad," said Lynn Raymond, Cheerleader.

Year of learning for Cheerleaders

The freshman Cheerleaders were very successful this year in supporting the freshman athletic teams of football and basketball. They also worked hard to help sell the spirit ribbons.

Mr. Paul Poehlein, counselor, was the squad's adviser; the captain was Shelley Johnson. She considered their first year as Cheerleaders a year of learning, experimenting, improving and perfecting to make their squad better.

They started this by practicing in the summer, with the varsity Cheerleaders teaching them their cheers, chants, school song and fight song. They also had practices on their own to perfect their routines.

"We started out the year as strangers and grew into good, close friends," said Shelley.

"Cheerleading helped me to meet other people, it gave me self confidence and it taught me to work with all different kinds of people," commented Laura Spaulding, Cheerleader.

Color Guard strives for excellence

After a three-year downfall, the Color Guard took a large step up the ladder of success to become the best guard in Iowa. It all started last year in clinics. Two weeks of hard work paid off for 18 girls when they received a phone call saying their tryout was successful, and "Welcome to Color Guard." Five of those 18 girls tried out for a captain position. The captains were Debbie Bolton (administrative captain), Chris Gallahan (flag captain), Vickie Knowlton (secretary-treasurer), Missy Osterquist (rifle captain) and Linda Worth (secretary-treasurer).

Summer practices began in June to prepare for summer camp at Central College in Pella, Ia. The success started the last day of camp when a competition was held to see which group had the best flag-and-rifle routine. East brought home both of these trophies.

The year continued with band camp and several band competitions. Songs such as "Firebird" and "God Bless the Child" brought home two "Best Guard" trophies. These were won at the Marion Invitational and at the Algona Band Days.

After football season came what is known as "winter guard." At this time, three alternates and four boys were added to the guard. State competition, held Dec. 5 in Pleasantville, Ia., highlighted the year. Mr. Jay Nugent, sponsor, and Mr. Kent Keating, choreographer, put together a routine to the song, "Why Not?" Color Guard took it to state and brought home the first-place trophy.

The boys were added into the routine later in the year for international competition and future band activities. East was the first Color Guard in Des Moines to add boys to their group. "The rewards I gained from being on Color Guard include friendships and memories I will keep forever in my heart," said senior Michelle Vallejo.

at the Homecoming Assembly. Seniors Todd Park and Aaron Hudnall and junior Neil Weese played drum cadences for the Color Guard at this assembly and other special-occasion performances.

Both girls did an excellent job, Connie placing sixth and Dena placing first. Dena was crowned Miss Iowa Auxiliary 1988. This is an honor she will hold for one year.

Steppers shine with Scarlet spirit

Glitter, glitz, twirls and splits. Steppers are one of a kind. They dazzle us with breath-taking routines inspired to make us happy with their performances.

After many weeks of tryouts, 24 honored girls were selected to be the 1987-8 Stepper squad. The officers chosen were co-captains Melissa Bohmke and Shanon Beebe, seniors and choreographers; senior Heidi Nelson, secretary; and senior Tammy McGilvra, treasurer.

Training started early last summer, with the girls attending the Marching Auxiliary camp in Ames, Ia., for four days. There they received a Superior Routine rating, Grand Champion trophy and Outstanding plaque. Seniors Jodi Hulsebus and Shanon Beebe were selected to perform a high-kick dance at Texas's Blue Bonnet Bowl. In state competition they received third place in pom-pom and novelty routines.

When not competing in camps and contests, the Steppers entertained us with dazzling routines during halftime at varsity home games. Their ability to perform their routines without error makes them, many times, the highlight of a game. Many people would prefer to watch the Steppers perform instead of the game. But their routines also cause a surge of Lee Township spirit to help the Scarlets trample any opposing team!

To be a Stepper is a great honor. For one unfortunate girl, this honor was cut short. Senior Lisa Brugioni was killed in an automobile accident last summer on Aug. 28, 1987. Lisa excelled in every thing she put her mind to do. She had a personality that would warm the coldest heart. Lisa will never be forgotten; she will live forever in the hearts of family and friends, and her memory will be treasured in the heart of East High School.

Homecoming game. The Steppers are a common sight at East's pep rallies to help the fans get excited for upcoming games, and, for reasons obvious to all onlookers, they excite the East High crowd!

Heidi Nelson strikes a pose during the Homecoming Assembly. The Steppers' performance was one of the highlights of the assembly, with the squad dedicating their performance to the memory of senior Lisa Brugioni.

The Steppers performed at many of the Scarlets' home varsity football games. Senior Kassie Irwin gives her own special half-time performance. Could this be her impression of an opposing team's player?

NHS activates spirit to serve EHS

In its eighth year of existence, the Scarlet Chapter of the National Honor Society (NHS) continued to achieve in character, service, scholarship and leadership abilities. Planning for the chapter began in 1979 to reward and recognize students who achieve scholastic excellence coupled with leadership, service and character. One of the goals for the chapter was to let students know that being recognized is a reward. It gave individuals a sense of purpose.

The 26 members of NHS were invited at the end of their junior year to become members. Each member had to be in the top 15 percent of his class in order to be eligible. A form listing achievements, filled out by both students and teachers, was sent to a reviewing committee. New members were then invited to an induction in the spring of 1987. Several seniors were also inducted at the same time as honorary members.

Mr. John Raymond, teacher of English, sponsored the activity. Meetings were held in his room on various occasions before school. Officers elected by members of NHS were Duane Sachs (President), Pam Helminski (Vice-President) and Stephanie Rogness (Treasurer).

NHS sponsored the honors breakfast (for all students receiving straight A's first semester), Scarlet Standouts, turkey cookies and the traditional "pie in the face" to their favorite teacher at the senior-faculty basketball game. Posters were also sold to help raise extra funds. Fund-raising money was used for scholarship funds, the honors breakfast and other activities of service to the school and community.

Honors to Kiwanians

It was an honor and privilege for eight seniors to serve as a Kiwanian for a period of one month. Kiwanians were chosen by Principal Barbara Prior and Vice-Principal Lloyd Klinzman. All eight students had to be seniors and excel in leadership, scholarship, citizenship and service. During the month in which the senior served as a Kiwanian, he attended a luncheon on Wednesdays with key Des Moines community leaders. Each metro school sent a representative to each luncheon.

Involvement improves East's image

What is the Building Climate Committee, otherwise known as BCC? BCC is a group of students and faculty working together to make East a better school. To accomplish this, BCC was divided into four subcommittees: Academics, Attendance, Image and Student Involvement. The Academic Committee, chaired by Mrs. Susan Stroope, senior Darin Larsen and junior Mary Jo Robinson, was designed for the recognition of good scholarship. The Attendance Committee, chaired by Mr. Don Graves and senior Kenny Halbur, gave recognition to students with good attendance. The Image Committee, chaired by Mr. Paul Sloan and juniors Michelle Gallant and LaVonne Gilbert, tried to foster a positive East High image. The Student Involvement Committee, chaired by Ms. Anda Liepa and sophomore Angie Clark, encouraged more involvement by students.

On Aug. 12, 1987, while many students enjoyed the last of those summer days and nights, 16 students and faculty were busy making plans for the school year at the BCC annual retreat. The 1987 retreat was held at the East Side Public Library. Several ideas were brought up at the retreat; one idea included the extension of the school's library hours to 7 a.m.-3:15 p.m. Not only does BCC work as a group from time-to-time, but each subcommittee also plans something. The Academic Letter-winners' ceremony, Perfect-Attendance Awards, Halloween Cookies, Christmas Door-Decorating Contest and the Lunch Bunch are just a few.

The Scarleteers had another successful year showing the Class of 1991 around the school. The Scarleteers' program was begun in 1983 to help the hundreds of confused freshmen and also to show guests around.

The more than 100 Scarleteers were sent a letter with four, five or six names to call. Each Scarleteer was responsible for helping those freshmen at Freshman Orientation and during the year.

This year's director was Mr. Ray Patrilla, with senior Christy Rogerson and junior McCeil King helping him. Mr. Patrilla said, "Christy and McCeil deserve all of the credit. They did all the work. With their hard work, they helped make the Class of 1991 feel welcomed and at home."

The Ambassadors' Club, formed in November, 1983, acted as hostesses and hosts for the school's many guests.

This year's board, Mrs. Kay McCollum, Mr. Harold Baeth and Vice-principal Lloyd Klinzman, were responsible for choosing only 13 members from the many applications received. Each student wanting to be an East High Ambassador had to meet certain requirements: be outgoing, have an interest in meeting people, and write an essay on "Why I Want To Be an Ambassador."

Besides showing guests around, as a group the Ambassadors hosted the annual Superintendent's State-of-the-School Breakfast for Des Moines business leaders. The breakfast was held Jan. 15 in the East High cafeteria.

Many students motivated to begin their careers right away took part in Career Beginnings. Students were assisted by mentors who helped place the students in summer jobs to ready them with skills for life-long careers.

lucky junior, Chris Gering was able to participate in a fascinating experience! On March 6, Chris was on his way to Washington, D.C., for a "Close Up" look at how things work in our governmental system. Through a nonprofit foundation, students were able to travel from all over to go to Washington, D.C., and go behind the scenes. More than 23,000 people took part in the Close Up program during the 1987-8 academic year.

The sponsor for this activity was Mr. Fred Vanderley, social science teacher. Chris learned about the democratic process from an insider's view.

Where did you spend your spring break this year? Twenty-three lucky East students traveled to New York and Washington, D.C., as participants in the United Nations Tour. To be selected, the students had to write essays on why they felt they should have been chosen to attend. Many hours of hard work were spent on the applications.

During the 10-day trip, the group never experienced a dull moment. In New York, they saw the Statue of Liberty, the Empire State Building and the United Nations Building. While in Washington, D.C., they saw the nation's capitol and the Smithsonian Institute.

Triumphant band takes in trophies

After years of being known as a second-rate band, the East High Marching Scarlets put their lean, mean, marching machine in gear, laid on the gas and drove home with more than an armful of trophies, thanks to the expert direction of Mr. Jay Nugent, his assistant, Mr. Kent Keating, and the band council, which included the drum majors, captains and section leaders.

Starting off with a bang, they took second place and the best Color Guard award at the Marion Invitational. Then they swept the Algona Marching Contest by taking first in parade and field show and by winning the sweepstakes trophy. They also won the awards for best horn line, drum line and Color Guard. The band then hosted the Iowa State Marching Contest and defeated all the other schools in the metro conference, placing second in their class. That night, they went to the Ankeny Field Show Competition and won second place.

But trophies were not the only honors these hard-working musicians received. They also played at a Drake football game Oct. 17, where they were warmly welcomed.

Nothing has to be said about the East High Marching Scarlets' season; their trophies speak for themselves. The band's award-winning half-time show featured sparkling renditions of "Firebird," "Hungarian Dance Number Five," "Granada Smoothie" and "God Bless the Child." The band also received new uniforms.

A new sound has been added to Studio

Orchestra this year. It is an instrumental back-up for Swing Choir. According to Mr. Jay Nugent, it is giving kids an idea of what it is like to be in a recording-studio-type back-up group that backs up pop singing groups.

After tough decisions, 21 students were chosen, by auditions held last spring, to be in the top jazz band. Jazz Band 1 plays numerous programs throughout the community and attends four or five contests each year. They also present an annual Las Vegas Show.

Jazz Band 2 is a preparatory activity for Jazz Band 1. It is set up for students who are interested in participating in the jazz program. These 18 students play a maximum of one contest and they, too, participate in the Las Vegas Show.

Choirs dazzle with great singing

The Vocal Music Department was vibrantly greeted by a new teacher, Mr. Kent Keating. Originally from Washington, Ia., the 27-year-old director attended William Penn University, with a double major, and received a B.A. degree in music education.

Concert Choir was one of the three choirs Mr. Keating taught. This was an intermediate choir that included 71 students first semester. An audition was required for a spot in this select choir.

Concert choir was divided into the four basic voice parts: soprano, alto, tenor and bass. Members sang a variety of music, from classics to pop. Singing songs by the Carpenters, John Rutter and Manhattan Transfer, they delighted one and all with their spectacular performances.

"I am very pleased with their progress this year and hope that this great progress continues into next year," said Mr. Keating.

"Scarlet Choir realized a lot of its potential this year. They learned a lot about their singing voices and the hard work it takes to make a good choir," said Mrs. Linda Baker, director.

This preparatory choir, composed of ninth and tenth graders, sang a variety of selections, from choral music to popular music. No audition was required for the beginning music student singing so-

Chamber Singers hit a high note

Voices blended, ears rang and harmonies echoed as the Chamber Singers communicated with song. From the first sopranos' high notes, soaring to the clouds, to the basses' low notes, like a lion's deep roar, these students delighted all with their musical talents.

Chamber Singers was an advanced, swing-choir type group, requiring an audition to enter. It consisted of four basic parts: soprano, alto, tenor and bass; yet often they were divided into as many as eight parts, under the direction of Mr.

Kent Keating, the new vocal music teacher.

Many minutes were required at the beginning of each day to warm up. Singing various exercises and sustaining harmonies a cappella were common warm-up activities. Warming up functioned to get students' voices loosened up so they were ready to sing.

Chamber Singers not only performed together, but they also went out together to Pizza Hut or Burger King, which were popular after-performance stops for many Chamber Singers.

Andy Elliott, Kim Siemer, Rob Dickson and Kent Guthrie demonstrate deep concentration while singing "Don't Be Afraid."

Chamber Singers strike an eye-catching pose from the song "Le Jazz Hot," from the musical "Victor, Victoria." Choreography was a major part of their rehearsals. When a song was memorized by all — both words and notes — the song was ready to be choreographed. The first song they choreographed was

"Bop til You Drop," by the Nylons. Fancy footwork, snappy hand and arm movements, jumps and frozen positions were some of the actions you could see Chamber Singers exhibiting throughout the year.

Junior Jenny Burns stands at the piano as the Chamber Singers' director, Mr. Kent Keating, plays scales for her to sing.

East filled with foreign culture

This year there were five foreign exchange students from five different countries. Senior Nena Cantu arrived in Iowa on Aug. 14, 1987. She stayed with senior Ellen Mann and her family. She really enjoyed meeting new people here at East.

Senior Tim Wellman is from Munster, Germany. He stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Ancell. Tim participated in swimming at East, and when he wasn't busy practicing he went out with friends to movies or to parties.

Senior Ben Wills from Wimbelton, England, stayed with seniors Geoff and Amber Johnson and their family. During his free time he enjoyed going to Mike T's, to the "loop" or to movies. Ben played tennis and also appeared in the school play.

Junior Rita Ricobelli is from San Francisco, Argentina. She stayed with sophomore Janet Iwanicki and her family. She enjoys music, movies and tennis.

Junior Rafael Murgel is from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. He arrived in the U.S. on Dec. 13, 1986. During the summer and the 1987-8 school year he stayed with senior Brad Roberts and his family. He was very active in sports and played football; he wrestled on the varsity level. He enjoyed his stay in the U.S.

The French Club was very active this year. The sponsors of the club were Ms. Susan Lorence and Ms. Sharon Iverson. The students sold candy and held fundraisers to provide money for their numerous activities. The French Club went to a French restaurant in Omaha, Neb., went on hayrides and also enjoyed a little French cuisine here in Des Moines.

The Spanish Club spent many hours mastering the Spanish language, and it all paid off. The students went to Spanish plays and dined in a Spanish restaurant. The sponsors were Ms. Sharon Iverson and Mrs. Gwenn Copple.

Senior Ben Wills from England is really enthusiastic about being educated in America.

Intellects get head start in life

Go on your mark. Get set. Go! ... to room 238 to learn a little bit more about the Gifted and Talented students at East High. Ms. Anda Liepa, sponsor to the 50 students, worked hard to revive a group that began to diminish a few years ago. Special meetings, helpful students and a lot of extra work accomplished this feat.

What is G/T? It is a group of students who were given a type of I.Q. test when in elementary school and pronounced superior to their peers in such areas as academics, music, art and creativity. This group is carried all through school to give added help to these students.

Why save it? The group, set up by the government, had been very helpful to students and parents alike. It has helped them cope with the extra pressure created by their intellectual abilities.

Heather Beardsley, a student involved in G/T, says, "It's an honor to be chosen to belong to such a prestigious group."

* * *

Liberal brainstorming, petty arguing and serious decisions brought students together to work out problems of the world. The Future-Problem-Solving Committee, sponsored by Ms. Anda Liepa, became a strong force for East High School. These young, bright, energetic students were given many perplexing problems which were solved after intricate meetings.

Anyone could join, although one had to be willing to work hard and try to solve major futuristic world problems. The students involved this year enjoyed the committee.

"i-Ho! Hi-Ho! It's off to work we go!" The Science Club was often found traipsing about, working toward a better understanding of nature. The 15 members spent their time exploring nature on field trips, learning and having fun.

Meetings, held on Wednesday mornings, were used to plan trips to nearby animal reserves, forests and museums. Mr. Ray Patrilla and Ms. Susan Stroope, sponsors, spent much of their time after school with the members.

The Minnesota spring-break trip was financed by the sale of M&M's. Mr. Patrilla said, "After all the M&M's I've sold, we're well prepared financially for our trips."

The club's officers were president Malinda Stone, vice-president Chad Trampel and secretary Mary-Ann Williams.

President Malinda Stone said, "I'm glad I joined."

Birds sang gaily; flowers bloomed; and summer arrived. To most students, this meant a summer free from books, homework and teachers, but to 144 students from schools throughout southeast Iowa, classes at Central College were about to begin. These students were involved in a government-funded program called Upward Bound.

The summer included several trips to the beach, classes, camp-outs, canoeing, movies and making friends.

During the school year, the students maintained contact with three reunions and a monthly newsletter. Students from each school also attended an interesting, educational play or movie together. The 15 students from East High attended "Singing in the Rain" at the Civic Center.

Students involved in Central Campus

Central Campus, now in its fifth year, is proving to be a real success. Central Campus, a school for Des Moines public school students, helps them learn vocational skills and special academic knowledge, like Russian and Japanese. Students involved go to Central Campus for half the day, then come back to East for the other half.

Central Campus gives students the opportunity to specialize and train in many different areas, ranging from Food Services to Computer Programming. Other areas include Metal Shops, Russian, Japanese, German, French, Spanish, Nursing, Radio Broadcasting, Television, Auto Mechanics and many others.

Classes taught at Central Campus are just like classes at East. The only difference is that Central Campus provides more in-depth study in each course.

With that difference, a student may often go right into the job market for which he has trained if he wishes. If he chooses to go on to college training, the courses he has taken make it much easier to understand college material.

Central Campus is something to think seriously about, whether the student goes straight to college from East or to the job market.

AFJROTC helps students plan careers in Air Force

Junior Nicole Toson and sophomore Cathy Stone stand at attention while sophomore Jason Boyd inspects them. AFJROTC students were required to wear their uniforms once a week.

The purpose of the Air Force Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps is to acquaint students with the aerospace age, develop informed citizens, strengthen character, promote an understanding of their roles as citizen airmen and motivate students for careers in the United States Air Force. They are taught these areas by Lt. Col. Marvin Lillie and MSgt. Randy Butler.

This year the AFJROTC encountered a problem they hadn't faced before: a decrease in enrollment. According to MSgt. Butler, assistant aerospace instructor, this problem occurred because of an increase in required subjects and a decrease in information sent to the junior highs. However, MSgt. Butler feels this can be solved through inquiries of new freshmen, especially since there is a new increased interest in the military. Bitter feelings about Vietnam are dying off, and patriotism is alive and fashionable again.

There is much more to AFJROTC than just its educational programs, including extra-curricular activities such as the Drill Team and the Color Guard for those who were willing to volunteer after school. The Color Guard presented the American flag at all kinds of events, including basketball games.

A few social events were sponsored by the AFJROTC: formal dances, picnics and trips.

Assistants provide hours of relief

When walking into the counseling office, the attendance office or the main office, you may have noticed one or more students hard at work. These students were just a few of the many hard-working office assistants.

Each student working in one of the offices needed to have a study hall and passing grades in order to have such an opportunity. Working in the office not

This was Renee's first year working in the office, as it was with many others.

All in all, working in the office can be a valuable experience, as well as a lot of fun.

A total of 26 students devoted their study hall time to working in the library.

These students had several jobs, including checking out books and putting books back on the shelves.

Each assistant had to have a study hall and a willingness to help others.

Because they had the assistants, the librarians were free to help other students find the materials they needed. Their hard work was greatly appreciated by many students and faculty members.

This year's group was made up of 26 students. These students competed in a regional leadership contest held Dec. 22. They also competed in a state leadership contest held Feb. 29 through March 2.

With the help of sponsor Gene Wanek, OEA was a very useful organization.

Organizations support EHS

What are all those items you see being sold at East High sporting events? They are money-raisers sold by the EHS Booster Club. Our Booster Club is one of the largest in the nation.

Did you ever wonder what purpose the ads in the back of the East High Quill serve? They help support the cost of the yearbook. Ad sales students, with determination, go out into the working world to sell ads to businesses and private individuals. Showing and selling the product is what these students are taught by Mrs. Nancy Hansen and Mr. Ross Heaton in ad sales class. In order to be a member, the students had to be a junior or a senior. Those members who do their best and sell ads do not go unrewarded. They receive a commission for each ad sold. The more ads sold, the less the cost of the yearbook. Without the ads, the yearbook would be extremely expensive, about $50 per book.

At press time over $12,000 worth of ads had been sold.

East High's Booster Club is one of the largest in the nation. It is an organization made up of parents, supporters and alumni of East High School. This year's leaders were President John Walker, Vice-President Rusty Moore, Secretary Linda Vanderlinden and Treasurer David Wright. The Booster Club worked very hard in organizing fund raisers to help support East High. They sponsored many activities to raise money, such as the Fall Jamboree, Pancake Day and the Chili Feed. They also sold refreshments, at concession stands, for baseball and softball games. The Booster Club was also in charge of all athletic and student recognition banquets.

The Parent-Teacher-Student Association (PTSA), did their best this year to satisfy East High fans and students during football and basketball games. They did this by having a variety of snacks and drinks to choose from at the concession stands. The money earned by the PTSA went to Mrs. Barbara Prior, East High's principal, who then made best use of the money for East High.

Junior Shan Wickham buys a Pepsi, candy bar and Hot Tamales from Mrs. Nancy Hudnall, a member of the PTSA, during an EHS basketball game. The PTSA was in charge of concession stands at sporting events. The money earned by the PTSA went to the principal, who used it for East's benefit.

Students join together as groups

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA), sponsored by Mr. Tom Lutz, was open to anyone who wanted to join.

The members met twice a month to discuss problems in the lives of today's youth.

The group occasionally had guest speakers or showed slides.

There were no fees required to be in the group unless you were a national member. If you were a national member, you received a monthly publication.

The Afro Club, sponsored by Mrs. Vallery Griffis, met twice a month.

The purpose of the group was to increase understanding and create a positive image of Afro-American culture.

The club did many things throughout the year. It performed a rhythmic step dance at the Homecoming Assembly, made its annual trip to the Logan Senior Citizen Center at Christmas and attended the "I Have a Dream" program at Drake University Jan. 15.

The Triple "E" Club (EEE), sponsored by Mrs. Linda Saddoris and Mrs. Donna Christensen, continued to beautify the north court yard with an assortment of flowers, trees and shrubs.

The club members sold candy, stationery, coupons and cheese in order to raise money for the community and for various club projects.

Top students work as one to better the school, community, many lives

Senior Jim Cummings, member of the Students in Leadership program, and Mrs. Susan Stroope have a nice conversation in the front hall.

Students in Leadership was a group of students from all high schools in Des Moines. Those students met regularly each month. At those meetings the students received assertiveness training and strengthened their leadership skills in a good atmosphere. Some sessions dealt with leadership concerns, such as how to lead a meeting effectively, and some sessions were about general interests, such as political caucuses, which were timely concerns. Service to the entire school was important.

The Students in Leadership program was coordinated by the Office of Intercultural Affairs under the direction of Dr. Mary Lynne Jones, director.

Ms. Sharon Iverson and Mrs. Susan Stroope were the sponsors from East.

Thirty sophomores, juniors and seniors represented East. In October, 10 of these students attended the Governor's Youth Conference, a state-wide gathering with the theme, "Youth 2000 Catch the Spirit."

The purpose of the Assembly Committee was to plan worthwhile assemblies through student involvement.

Mrs. Vallery Griffis was the sponsor and vice-principal, Lloyd Klinzman was the adviser to the group.

Representatives from various school groups, clubs and the Student Government worked together to plan the assemblies.

The Assembly Committee usually met three or four weeks prior to an assembly in preparation for the event. Then the group met every week up to the week of the assembly, continuing preparation.

The meetings were held Tuesday mornings at 7:40 in Mrs. Griffis' room, 118.

Students become involved

Sixty-nine students made up the group called PEOPEL PE, which stands for "Physical Education Opportunity for Exceptional Learners" in Physical Education. In this class, a "peer helper" was paired up with one other person and helped him with his locker, helped him dress for gym and also helped him interact with other students. To qualify for this class, the peer helper had to spend three hours observing students in a special education class and maintain a "B" average. Their many activities included softball, volleyball, aerobics and their favorite, bowling.

TLC, which means "Teen Leadership Connection", is a group of students caring about other students. This organization is led by Mrs. Dorothy Hall and met every Tuesday and Friday mornings. This group was designed to show other kids that they don't need alcohol and drugs to cope with life. Their main purpose is to make people look at life realistically. They did an outstanding job in their efforts this year by putting red ribbons on hundreds of cars in their "Tie one on" campaign. Their purpose was to remind everyone not to drink and drive during the winter holidays.

The light and sound crew was headed this year by Mr. Dave Frost. The crew wasn't large, but they did their job in times of need. Because of their small number, they all had to volunteer a lot of their time to provide sound and light at such events as assemblies, plays and athletic events.

TV Production is a follow-up of the Communications Media course. In TV Production, students learn about uses and abuses of cameras, as well as writing scripts and documentaries for TV use. They put their knowledge to work when they filmed many school events such as Drama Club productions, guest speakers, athletic events and various TV programs for school use.

Silent Vibrations, headed by Ms.

Ruth Ann Gaines, had a group of 25 students. Her class met during third hour with a few before-school and after-school practices. The purpose was to teach students the art of communications and silent communication. They performed at many events. Two annual ones were the Homecoming Assembly, in which they did their "Spuds" skit, and the Christmas assembly, in which they did their version of "Happy Days."

After many weeks of going bowling, almost everyone's score and technique improved. Bowling this year turned out to be a huge success for everyone in PEOPEL P.E. It was just one of the many activities they did this year.

Success through dedication

Once again, the Forensics Team entered the tournament season with the drive and dedication it takes to succeed in competition. We could see this by looking at the many awards, trophies, plaques and above all, knowledge, acquired through experience.

Often referred to as simply the "Debate Team," the more appropriately titled "Forensics Team" allows all events to be accounted for. All areas of forensics deserved credit and attention. East offered policy and Lincoln-Douglass debate, and many individual events. These events included Student Congress; extemporaneous speaking; impromptu; humorous, dramatic and oral interpretations; prose and poetry; and Mock Trial.

Reflecting on this past year, head coach Margaret Faidley commented, "The team has become more cohesive . . . a real force in the metro." Senior Ed Little summed the year up when he said, "The team has really improved this year. We've experienced a lot more success. Every tournament we brought home awards and trophies." Is it any wonder East is becoming more and more respected by its competitors in the National Forensics League?

The list of accomplishments by the 1987-8 team is an extensive one. One of their biggest achievements was a second place over-all showing for the team at the Hoover-Lincoln Fall Classic. Student Congress was another area in which team members excelled. Senior Jim Cummings shared his thoughts on debate: "Debate is analogous to a Channel 11 special on economics. Everyone has something to say that no one else agrees with and very few people understand. With this in mind, debate is a great learning experience that more students should become a part of. Join the team."

Credit must also be given to Ms. Claudia Richards and Mr. Dennis Forker. They used their time and experience in helping the team become stronger.

Dedication . . . that's what it was.

Pep 'E' Club promotes enthusiasm

Senior Kassie Irwin puts the finishing touches on the library Christmas tree as the Christmas spirit is spread throughout the school. Every year at Christmas, the Pep "E" Club shows the Christmas spirit by decorating the library. This is just one of the many activities the Pep "E" Club does throughout each and every year.

Promoting enthusiasm and school spirit were two responsibilities of the Pep "E" Club. During the school year, the Pep "E" Club was very involved in many school activities. Decorating the library at Christmas, making locker signs for various sporting events, selling spirit links during Homecoming Week and sponsoring the Spinster Spree were just a few.

The Pep "E" Club was led by seniors Julie Harders (President), Raquel Larson (Vice-president), Nichole Rush (Secretary), Darlene Buchholz (Treasurer) and 16 representatives from each of the four grade levels. The spirited Pep "E" Club was very successful in its attempt to promote school spirit around the halls of Dear East High. It was a great year for the group.

Active club-ers lead the way ahead

Twenty-one students helped organize the Drama Club this year. Their advisers were Ms. Ruth Ann Gaines, director of the Drama Department, and Ms. Jill C. Schaeffer, speech and creative writing teacher. Among those students, five people were chosen as officers: Toni Bailey, president; Larry Tillotson, vice-president; Kim Lawson, secretary; Kristi Braden, treasurer; and Bob Jerrett, sergeant-at-arms. But besides "acting" activities, Drama Club also went to plays like "Mousetrap" and "Peace Child." Ms. Gaines said, "Seeing plays enhances the interest of students."

Have you ever thought about what it might be like to take a house totally apart inside, and then put it back together again? Well, if you were a member of Home Remodeling, you certainly do! Ten students, with their instructor, Mr. Ted Christensen, went from East out to the job site to "do their thing." They do everything from tiles and carpeting to electrical work. Mr. Christensen said, "The purpose is to gain knowledge in the construction industry." They work for three hours and then come back from school for three hours. Members receive one and one-half credits per semester. All money for remodeling was given by New Horizons.

"What is Campus Life?" If anyone ever come up to you and asked you that, how would you answer?

Campus Life is a group which offers positive input in four areas: mental, physical, social and spiritual. Forty students from East participated in the group. These students met from 7 to 8:30 on Tuesday nights. Each Tuesday, a member of the group hosted the meeting in his own home. Each meeting started with games and activities, then moved on to a discussion in areas like friendship, family, dating and God. Todd Dahlgren was the Campus Life director.

Never to forget . . .

SLOAN FURTADO

April 7, 1970 — June 6, 1986

One who loved to help others, Sloan Furtado, will be forever remembered as one who cared.

A strong love for skateboards kept him busy. More importantly, however were his friends.

His mother remembers, saying, "People would call late at night and Sloan would listen to their problems; he was a good listener."

Clearly, he was a good friend.

Always there when anyone needed him, Steven Ray Pettorini Jr., was truly one of a kind. Usually found with his friends, or working either at his job or on cars, he always had a smile on his face.

Michelle Vallejo, senior, expresses her thoughts, "Steve's friends were top priority but he had a strong love for his family as well. His smile was contagious and something I will always remember."

STEVEN RAY PETTORINI JR.

July 17, 1970 — July 11, 1987

A "Special One," to not only her brother, but to all who knew her, Lisa Ann Brugioni was a source of love. Active in school activities, she put being a Stepper at the top of her list.

Kassie Irwin, senior, expressed her feelings about Lisa: "Everything Lisa did showed her energetic and friendly personality."

Diane Avery, senior, said, "Lisa had a smile for everyone."

Remembered by those who knew and loved him, Mark Lee Holtman always seemed to have a smile on his face. An outgoing person, Mark loved to go out with his friends. His family and friends were Mark's two top priorities. He always managed to have time for them regardless of his busy schedule, which included a job and wrestling. Mark's cheerful nature will be missed, with his smiling face a fond memory.

PRIDE

It's a feeling of accomplishment. Accomplishment in learning, in making friends and in knowing the years spent at East High have been the very best.

PRIDE

It demands the hard work and support of everyone. This total commitment has carried East to the pinnacle. And it is this same commitment that will keep East High No. 1.

PRIDE

Iowa Power also shares this.

PRIDE

in the many East high programs and their participants.

PRIDE

in the student body.

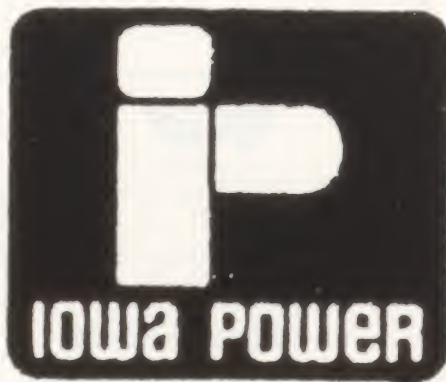

PRIDE

in the community, and

PRIDE

in our continuing alliance with East.

The students of East are the leaders of tomorrow. Leaders who will someday serve in government, business and the community. As the journey into the future becomes reality, Iowa Power will also be there.

Lisa

Life is such a precious gift,
Each day a new beginning.
Then we ask ourselves, why should Lisa's life have ended?
We had grown to love that certain smile,
and watch the halls for her springy step.
We'd wondered how she found such energy, especially her Monday morning pep.
Lisa lived her life to the fullest.
Her middle name was fun.
We'll remember always our time together.
She was truly her brother's "special one."
She could always make each one of us smile when she hummed her favorite tune.
Shows we should never take life for granted,
for it can end, like hers, too soon.
And if you needed a shoulder to cry on,
she was always there to soothe.
"Oh Lisa, now that you've gone away, what are the rest of us to do?"
We'll remember, also, our jamboree, that was the time that was the day to say good-bye, but none of us knew we let that time just slip away.
We waved at her as she drove away.
But our own minds were racing ahead, to a new school year just beginning.
"Oh Lisa, we left so many things unsaid."

— Kathy Irwin —
Sept. 1987

We dedicate this season to you. We will always keep the memories and good times we had close to our hearts.
We love you,

Lisa!

In Memory

Taken from us at a time when life just seemed to be starting for him, senior Mike Oppenheim (also known as Opie), will be forever remembered.

Football and baseball were two activities that Mike participated in here at East.

Captain of this year's football team, Mike clearly had the respect of his teammates.

This year's baseball team named the Most Inspirational Player Award after Mike to show how special he was throughout his high school career and his life.

A family oriented person, Mike spent a good amount of his time doing all sorts of things for his family.

A well rounded person, Mike will be missed yet remembered by all those he touched.

Any Way You Look At It, East High proved to be outstanding throughout the 1987-8 school year. Whether it was an athletic event, a performance or just a day in the classroom, the student body represented East in a positive way.

As usual, our Scarlet pride was shown at athletic events. Not only the players represented East well, but also the crowd. Once again, crowds were there to support our Scarlets as they brought in victories.

This was an exceptional year for the performing groups at East. Several trophies were won by the band, Color Guard, Steppers and Cheerleaders for their remarkable routines. These trophies added to the large trophy collection and at the same time increased the pride found at East High.

Academic excellence was also found throughout the year. Although it was many times overlooked, the academics were by far one of the most successful and important aspects at East this year!

The 1987-8 school year was definitely full of excellence and achievements. Any Way You Look At It, East High showed their school spirit and proved to be a top-notch school.

Seniors Michelle Vallejo, Mary-Ann Williams, Betty Hendricks, Rod Welsher, Heather Beardsley and Kenny Deering show their excitement for graduation.
